The Killcreas Family

John Killcreas, 1805-1855 came to the Tensaw Country about 1832 and established himself as a carpenter in the Stockton area. John was the son of Robert Killcreas, -1757 and Ann Clark, -1762 of SC. The families who did not come to Tensaw were:

Sarah Killcreas, 1786-.
Robert Killcreas II, 1788-.
James Leroy Killcreas, 1794-.
Martha Killcreas, 1796-.
Elizabeth{Betsy}Killcreas, 1797-.

Shortly after arrival in the Stockton area, John married Eliza Vaughn, 1815-1887, possibly a sister of William Caleb Vaughn, the one who began the settlement of Vaughn.
Their children are:

1. John Killcreas II, 1833-1903. m. to Caledonia McMillan, 1838-1931. She is the daughter of Hector McMillan and Anna{Annie}McMillan of Stockton. John's sister Elizabeth Killcrease is to later marry Caledonia's brother Malcolm McMillan..

The children of John and Caledonia are:

The McMillan families with proud, Scottish, royal blood in their veins, left Richmond County, North Carolina and migrated first to Monroe county and later to Stockton to be with the older brother, Malcolm McMillan who had become successful in acquiring lands and other great wealth. These families, with their delayed entry into the Tensaw Country, are later than the reporting period of this research report. They were business oriented and very successful, as shortly after their arrival, they acquired vast land holdings and lumber operations. They had an early basket mill in Stockton.

The Smith Family

The Smiths were considered to be among the nonconformists of England. In their search for freedom and religious priviledges, they ended their travels in the Tensaw Country about 1770. They went from England to Ireland, then to Pennsylvania with William Penn. Not desiring to be Quakers, they migrated to Ninety-six, South Carolina, now known as Cambridge. From there they migrated to Monroe County, Alabama and then on into The Tensaw Country. There were three brothers in the family:

Robert Smith, went to Tennessee with Nash's Battallion when Governor John Sevier made war on the Creek Indians and drove them out of Tennessee. He was never heard from once he left S.C.

Archibald Smith,. was a Revolutionary War veteran, with the rank of Captain, N militia, Bladen County. He married Jane McArthur. Their child is:

Margaret Smith, 1834-.

John Smith, served in the Revolutionary War under General Francis Marion and rose to the rank of Colonel. He married Mary Susan Gilmore of SC. Their children are:

1. John Smith.

2. Robert Smith.

3. Reese Howard Smith, 1784-. In SC. m.1804 to Miss Matilda Ann Embree, 1785-1824. She died giving birth to twin sons. After her death in Clarke Co., he moved to Stockton to be near his sister. He was a surveyor, and his equipment is held by his great grandson Harry Davis Smith of Pine Log Creek. He was a mail carrier between Ft. Stoddart and Claiborne in 1813. He used a skiff boat as transportation with several oarsmen.

Family tradition has it that he took his family to Ft. Mims on 29 August1813 and after viewing the crowded conditions and the relaxed security, decided to take them back home to Claiborne, thus averting the great tragedy that occured the next day claiming so many lives. Their children are:

Mary Smith, 1804-1894.
Nancy Annie Smith, 1807-.
Jesse Embree Smith,1809-1878.
Sarah[Sally]Smith,1811-1899.

Susan Kitchen, 1800-.
William Kitchen, Col., 1806-.
Samuel L. Kitchen,1807-1851.
Glascon Kitchen, 1810-.

The Spivey Family

William Spivey, 1813-. of Virginia came to the Stockton area as a mechanic, working on the mill's of the area. Mechanics had certain responsibilities that only mature persons could handle to keep the machinery operational. He married Polin, 1824-., Florida.
Their children are:

William Spivey, 1847-.
Josephine Spivey, 1850-.

Z. P. Scott, 1808-., was a longtime successful merchant in Little River. He and wife Catharine A. had a daughter, Jane Scott, 1846-.

Isabella Hardie was married on 24 April 1861, in Mobile, Alabama, to John McArthur (born 27 August 1835 in Alva, Clackmannanshire, Scotland; died 25 October 1921) at the ~~Fourth~~ FRANKLIN STREET Presbyterian Church in Mobile, Alabama, in a ceremony performed by James M. McLean, according to her marriage license. The application for the license, dated 15 April 1861, did not require her birth date, her parents' names or her age. Isabella Hardie died of cancer on 19 September 1885, also in Mobile. Her death certificate states that she was buried in the plot in the Magnolia Cemetery owned by John McArthur, although her name does not appear on the single monument on the plot. Isabella's death certificate gives her age as 54 years which means that her family, who would have supplied the information, assumed a birth date that fell between October 1830 and September 1831. John McArthur was the son of Agnes Spence McArthur [sister of William Spence who married Helen Hardie, sister of John Hardie of Thornhill] and Andrew McArthur). Children of Isabella Hardie and John McArthur:

1. Andrew Patterson McArthur was born 19 February 1862 in Mobile, Alabama. He was a medical doctor . He was married first on 17 July 1894 to Ella Killcrease (born 4 November 1867; died 6 August 1899; third child of John Killcrease and Caledonia McMillan). Children of Andrew Patterson McArthur and Ella Killcrease:

1.1 John McArthur, first child of Andrew McArthur and Ella Killcrease, was born 21 April 1895 in Stockton, Baldwin County, Alabama. He grew up in Rembert, Marengo County, Alabama, where his father practiced medicine. He attended the University of Alabama and served in the signal Corps during World War I. He was married on 23 June 1932 to Mamie Day (born 14 May 1893 in Salem, Amite County, Mississippi; died 26 May 1876 in Moss Point Mississippi; daughter of William Hockett Day and Polly Faulkner Butler) He died 23 September 1952 in Moss Point, Mississippi. The only child of John McArthur and Mamie Day:

1.1.1 Mary Day McArthur was born 20 May 1933 in Moss Point, Mississippi. She graduated from Moss Point High School and attended Belhaven College in Jackson, Mississippi, as well as Hufstetler Business College in Mobile, Alabama. She was married on 24 July 1953 to Frederick Harold Lander called "Jack" (born 2 March 1930 in Kreole, Mississippi; son of Percy Wilford Lander and Lela Mae Byrd) at Moss Point Prsbyterian Church in Moss Point, Mississippi. Children of Mary Day McArthur and Jack Lander:

Scot Became a Citizen of the Confederate States . . . in Error (?)

My g-grandfather, son of Andrew McArthur and Agnes Spence, both born and baptised in Dunfermline, Fife, Scotland, and married in Alva, Clackmannan/Stirlingshire (I believe at the time it was the former), was born in Alva 27 Aug 1835 and baptised 6 Sept 1835 in Alloa (I had just, in a previous message, stated that he, as well as the three next children, were all baptised in Alva). WRONG. The family moved to Roodstown, County Louth, Ireland, in the year 1845 and arrived in New Orleans, Louisiana, in January 1853, settling in Mobile, Alabama. I had found mention in record books of Mobile County, Alabama, where John had signed intention to become a citizen of the US, but never could find a date on which he became a naturalized citizen. Now I have found a handwritten paper stating as follows:

Confederate States of America
District Court of the Confederate States
For the District of Alabama At Mobile

"Be it remembered, that on this 19th day of September, A. D. 1861, personally appeared in open court, John McArthur, a native of Ireland, (above which is written "Scotland"--he entered this country FROM Ireland) who, under his oath, doth declare, that he will support the Constitution of the Confederate States of America, and that he doth renounce all fidelity and allegiance to any foreign prince, potentate, sheiks, or sovereignty, whatever and more especially to the Sovereign of Great Britain.

"Witness my hand, & the seal of said court hereto affixed, this day & year above stated -
John A. Cuthbert, Clerk"

It had not occurred to me that the area coming into a period of belonging to the Confederacy would have any bearing on citizenship, but now I would like to know if, when the "War Between the States" or "War of Northern Aggression," also known as "The Civil War" was over that automatically made the residents "naturalized to the USA." Does anyone here know?

839 JOHN McMILLAN
C 1749-1807
AND CATHERINE MURPHY
C 1745-1825
OF ROBESON COUNTY,
NORTH CAROLINA

Family records indicate that John McMillan, (Sr.) and Catherine Murphy and their young son Dugald, came to America in 1776 from the Highlands of Scotland. Their second son Murdoch was born at sea during their three month voyage. One can only imagine what a challenge that must have been to embark upon such an adventure at that time in their lives.

The McMillans, along with some other Scottish families settled in Robeson County, NC. In his 1807 will, John McMillan (Sr.) named six sons. They were 1) Dougald, 2) Gilbert, 3) John, 4) Neill, 5) Archibald and 6) Murdoch; however the daughters were not mentioned. Possibly, by this time, they were married and had already received their share of the estate. Three of their sons were Presbyterian ministers.

John McMillan (Sr.) gave the land for the Old Raft Swamp Presbyterian Church in Hoke County, NC. The site is described as being a short distance east of Allandale Community Building, just north of the intersection of county roads #1314 and 1318. A few yards south of it is the family cemetery of John McMillan (Sr.). The first recorded reference to Raft Swamp is the journal of Rev. Hugh McAden, who was sent by the Synod of Philadelphia as a missionary to preach to the Scots of the Cape Fear Valley. He records that he preached at the home of John McMillan to the group known as the Raft Swamp Meeting.

The above mentioned McMillan Cemetery has thirteen graves—all of them with the McMillan surname. The graves of John and Catherine are marked as follows: "John McMillan, a native of Kintyre Scotland, D. Jan 7, 1807 in the 58th year of his life. He was a pious man" and "Catharine McMillan consort of John McMillan, D. Sept. 7, 1825. In her 80th yr of life. She was a good woman." All of the other graves are believed to be their children and grandchildren.

John McMillan (Sr.) served in the Revolutionary War from Ninety Six District where he was paid. Militia duty as Private done since the reduction of Charleston...He authorized Captain John McGaw to draw and receive the indent due him for service to the public militia on the 27th August 1785. He assisted in establishing American Independence, while acting in the capacity of Private (soldier) in Ninety Six District and Fort Charlotte and was present for duty at Fort Charlotte on the 27th of August 1785. A brief history of the children of John McMillan (Sr.) and Catherine Murphy follows.

Dugald McMillan (c 1774-c 1835) married Jennet McCorvey. They moved from North Carolina to Georgia about 1810, where their three youngest children were born. In 1819 they moved from Georgia to Burnt Corn in Monroe County, Alabama. He was appointed Postmaster of Burnt Corn on 6 October 1829 and served intermittently until 1832 when it was discontinued.

Murdoch McMillan (1776-1840) was married to Jane Ramsey. He was licensed to preach by the Orange Presbytery at Barbecue Church on March 17, 1801. After a successful career of preaching and teaching in NC, he answered the call to preach in Tennessee. He was in Tennessee by 1833 and rose to prominence in Memphis as a Presbyterian minister. He and some family members are buried in Memphis. Murdoch was named as executor in his father's will.

Catherine McMillan married Major Daniel McNair. No records were found on Catherine other than a scant reference in family writings. She was not ~~mentioned~~ named in her father's will.

Gilbert McMillan married Margaret (Katy) Gilchriast. She lived and died in Robeson County. They and their seven children, Catherine, Margaret Jane, Mary Ann, Barbara Downing, Dianna, William N. C. and Archibald are all buried in the McMillan Cemetery.

John McMillan (Jr.) lived and died in North Carolina. Most likely the John McMillan named as son in his father's will is the same "John" buried in the McMillan Cemetery.

Barbara McMillan married John McCorvey. They embarked upon a trip to Alabama with intentions of making it their home. John McCorvey died in 1818 on the way through Georgia. It is unknown where he is buried, only that it was in the wilderness. Barbara was living at Claiborne in Monroe County on the 8th of November 1825, when she and Archibald McMillan signed an affidavit giving power of attorney to settle the estate of their father, John McMillan of Robeson County, NC. Barbara was not named in the will of her father.

My ancestor, Reverend Neill McMillan (c 1786-1837) married his cousin Mary McMillan. Sometime between 1800-1815 he accompanied a group of his people from Robeson County to their home in Georgia where he served as their school teacher and minister. He and Mary (daughter of Malcolm McMillan and Margaret Smith of Richmond County, NC) were married on the 4th of December 1817 in Montgomery County, GA. As early as 1818 Reverend Neill McMillan was serving as a missionary in the Mississippi Territory, part of which later became Alabama. They lived and died in Monroe County, Alabama where they and most of their family are buried in Davison Cemetery and Old Scotland Presbyterian Cemetery.

Archibald McMillan is though to be the third Presbyterian minister of the John McMillan family. However, the only other record of him is that he "went to Alabama." We know that he was in Claiborne in 1825 when he and his sister Barbara (McMillan) McCorvey signed an affidavit giving Power of Attorney for permission to settle the estate of their father John McMillan (Sr.) of Robeson County, NC. *Submitted by: Julia McMillan Emanuel, P.O. NOTABLE BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION OF MOSS POINT CITIZEN

Friends of Dr. A. P. McArthur called at his home on Thursday evening, Feb. 19, between the hours of eight and ten-thirty, to wish him many happy returns of the day as he celebrated on this day his eightieth birthday. Many lovely flowers, gifts, telegrams and cards were received by the honoree.

Reception rooms of the home were beautifully decorated with vases and baskets of gladoli, King Alfred daffodils, roses, snapdragons and stock.

Miss Ella McArthur welcomed the guests and they were received by Dr. and Mrs. A. P. McArthur. Miss Katrina Wilson had charge of the register. Mrs. Andrew Coffin of Mobile, Mrs. C. S. Beardslee and Mrs. John McArthur invited the guests into the dining room which was attractively decorated. The table was very pretty overlaid with a handsome handwoven lace cloth, centered with an embossed yellow and white cake. Lighted candles in silver holders stood on each end of the table. Mrs. Coffin, Mrs. McArthur and Mrs. Beardslee, assisted by Mary McArthur and Betty Ossie of Mobile, served cake, candy, mints and talted nuts. Mrs. J. C. Hassell served punch from a lovely crystal bowl which rested on a table overlaid with a dainty lace cloth.

Subject: My Ggf's citizenship

1I appreciate your printing my info about my Great grandfather John McArthur's Confederate States citizenship. As you know, once I retired and we got the RV my travelling to libraries slowed down except for the 5½ weeks in 2001 when we went to SLC and I spent many days at the LDS library. I collected so much information on both sides of my family and Jack's that it was all bunched up in a box and was saved from the wrath of Hurricane Katrina in 2005----only I didn't know for years that I still had it and hadn't taken time to sort it out.

After the storm and Jack's illness beginning about the same time I didn't take much time to look through that stuff, what I had before, or to search for much more. Last year I devoted to working in the yard trying to prove that I was worthy of the time and money spent on the Master Gardener's class. This year I'm watering or just trying to con Jack into watering everything and everything is pretty sick in this heat (heat index 108° here yesterday).

My 78th birthday in May reminded me that I don't have too many years left to get all of our families' information organized. I have found that Ancestry.com really works as a means of finding parents, siblings, etc. on a lot of my folks, but it is difficult to try to get it to keep the information that I try to put in and save. I'm planning to buy the Family Tree Maker CD. Have bought a couple of new file cabinets (the two four-drawer ones that I used before have the top two OK, the bottom two rusted out) that will go under my door-shelf work table. And, I'm going through boxes of papers and trying to get them sorted by families. I see the need to buy more drawers---trying to do away with cardboard and plastic boxes.

I hit the jackpot yesterday and answered my own question that you printed in the AT. I found a letter from the University of South Alabama, university archives, dated Nov,.30 1998, stating,"Dear Mrs. Lander: Thank you for your phone call of today. We are pleased to provide you with a copy of the naturalization record of John McArthur. As you can see, his record is one which includes all those people naturalized with him during the October term, 1868. We have also enclosed our invoice in the amount of $1.50 which goes to cover the cost of copying this record." (Note: I paid it)

October Term 1868 (Tuesday Nov 3rd)

The lists name, native country, age and years as a resident in the US. The list includes 4 from England, 3 France, 3 Ireland, 2 Scotland, 2 Switzerland, 2 Germany, and 1 each from Austria, Greece, Norway, Portugal and Africa (a 74 year old who had been here 60 years---probably a former slave)

Number 8 on a list of 22 names is:

John McArthur an alien of Scotland aged 33 years resident in the US 16 yrs.

This day came before P LaForgy clerk of the City Court of Mobile the foregoing named and described aliens who under oath declared it to be their bona fide intention to become citizens of the United States

--- - - - - - -- - - - - - - - --

Therefore, in a span of seven years he became a citizen of two governments while living in the same house. I had asked the G&H department of Pascagoula and Mobile libraries and was told that they did have to apply for US citizenship if they had taken the CSA citizenship to swear allegiance to the one and that in case of those who had fought in the army had to answer more detailed questions. It disturbs me that apparently in those days women were not allowed to become citizens. Or am I just not seeing any female names on this list and taking it for granted. Being a female myself I have always thought that women should be equal to men for citizenship (and voting) but that was not the case. Question: What if a woman, wealthy or not, came in those years alone or as head of a household she still couldn't be considered a citizen?

Isabella Hardie and John McArthur

In her book, John Hardie of Thornhill and His Family, Lillian Martin recounts the story of John Hardie's sister Helen Hardie Spence who came to the United States in 1848 with her husband William Spence and their children. According to Lillian Martin, Helen also brought her niece, Isabella Hardie.

Isabella was married on 24 April 1861 to John McArthur at the ~~Fourth~~ Presbyterian Church in Mobile, Alabama, in a ceremony performed by James M. McLean, according to her marriage license. The application for the license, dated 15 April 1861, did not require her birth date, her parents' names or her age. Isabella Hardie died of cancer on 19 September 1885, also in Mobile. Her death certificate states that she was buried in the plot in the Magnolia Cemetery owned by John McArthur, although her name does not appear on the single monument on the plot. Isabella's death certificate gives her age as 54 years which means that her family, who would have supplied the information, assumed a birth date that fell between October 1830 and September 1831.

In her book, Lillian Martin identifies Isabella's father as David Hardie, one of Helen Hardie Spence's brothers. There are several problems with this conclusion, based on information currently available.

David Hardie (1798-1856) and his wife Christian Black, while living at Markle Mains farm in East Lothian, did have a daughter named Isabella who was born in 1838 and baptized at Prestonkirk on 19 June 1838. However, according to the Parish records, David's daughter Isabella was married on 27 September 1860 to Charles Jameson Christie at Prestonkirk. Moreover, the parish Household Entries for Markle Mains show that David's daughter Isabella and her husband were living on the farm with Isabella's widowed mother in 1861. Isabella and Charles Christie went on to have five children; three of them were baptized in Pestonkirk and two in Edinburgh. This, of course, would be inconsistent with Isabella's marriage in Mobile in 1861.

Isabella Hardie McArthur could have been David Hardie's daughter if she was the child of a woman who was not David's wife. If she were the illegitimate child of David, she would not have been the only one. Prior to his marriage in 1833 David fathered twins named William Hardie and Euphan Hardie born on 19 July 1833 to Euphemia Jaffray Although David Hardie was not married to the mother of the twins, they were christened as Hardies and raised in Euphemia's house which was located close to David's residence at Markle Mains. However, if David Hardie had a natural child named Isabella born out of wedlock it would seem strange for him to have named one of his legitimate children the same name.

If John McArthur's wife Isabella was not David Hardie's daughter, then who were her parents? Assuming she was Helen Hardie Spence's niece, there are several alternative explanations, none of which are satisfactory.

John Hardie of Thornhill and his brothers all named one of their children Isabella; it was their own mother's name. Not only David, but also William, John and James had daughters named Isabella.

John Hardie's daughter Mary Isabella Hardie married Taul Bradford. James Hardie's daughter Isabella was not born until 20 February 1855. Therefore, John McArthur's wife Isabella was not the child of either of these Hardie brothers.

Isabella Cousen Hardie, the daughter of William Hardie and Catherine McFarlane (spelled "McFarland" in some sources), was born in 1835 and baptized on 5 October 1835 in Kilmadock, Perthshire. Accepting some confusion over birth dates, one could speculate that John McArthur's wife Isabella was the daughter of William Hardie. There is one problem with this view. William Hardie and Catherine McFarlane were married on 28 July 1833 in Kilmadock, and Isabella was the second of their eight children. There is no specific explanation why William and Catherine would send their thirteen year old daughter off to America with William's sister Helen,

Another possibility that bears further inquiry is John Hardie of Thornhill's brother Robert Hardie, whose twin brother was James. Lillian Martin's book says: "He was a merchant in Edinburgh and he was unmarried. He died young." This seems to be based on a similar conclusion by John Hardie's son Joseph who wrote about John Hardie's brothers and sisters in his booklet, Short Sketch of the Life of John Hardie of Thornhill. Joseph's sources are obscure, but his conclusion that Robert never married appears to be based on John Hardie's correspondence with his brother Joseph in Scotland. In one letter dated 18 March 1834, John Hardie wrote, "I am very glad to hear William, David and James have taken to themselves partners for life, and I shall be truly happy to see my new sisters." Indeed, William, David and James were all married in 1833 (William for the second time), and it would have been erroneous to conclude from this remark that Robert had never married. There is a record of a Robert Hardie marrying Isabella Brown in Rothesay, Bute, quite far to the west of the Fifeshire origins of John Hardie's family. This couple lived in Greenock, Renfrew, somewhat less remote than Bute but still well to the west of Fifeshire. Robert Hardie and Isabella Brown had four children one of whom (a twin) was named Isabella and was born 16 November 1831 - a date within the range of Isabella Hardie McArthur's birthdate based on here death certificate. There is even a record of a Robert Hardie dying 31 May 1839 in Falkirk, Stirling, which is "young" for someone born in 1800. Although none of this is consistent with Robert being a merchant in Edinburgh, it does give us another possible origin for Isabella Hardie McArthur. Obviously, more investigation is warranted.

I can never repay you for all the things you have contributed to my research. Incidentally, I have some more data coming from my Mississippi LONGMIRES and will shoot it on over.>>>> your way as soon as I receive if you still need.

Needless to say, I want ANYTHING you have on this family and especially interested in your sources. Hope you have some more descendants who are researching. Thanks again,

Dear Mrs. Edwards:

I wish to thank you for sending information on my early family (Reference fileG00 280) on Robert Gilcrease, alias Gilchrist (Kilcrease etc.). This information you sent to my cousin Julia Emanuel in Mobile. She in turn sent it to me.

Julia asked that I provide additional information for your files, so I'm enclosing the Killcreas and related families that I have been able to put together.

It appears that Robert first married Ester (Easter) Booth. They had a son William born Sept. 1780. Court records show Ester Boothe living in Claiborne County, Miss., Dec. 29, 1813.

I've found records where there was a William Kilcrease owning land in Claiborn County. The property was located next to a John Booth (1804) . Could this John Booth be the father/brother of Easter? Would you by chance know anyone in Claiborn or Copiah counties that could provide any additional information?

William was the Son of Robert & Hester (1st m) he was born 1780 Sept 10 Hester married Sam Booth (1815)

So far I've found three decendants of Sarah (daughter of Robert and Ann (Clark) Thompson. Sarah married Aron Barlow. They had eight children. I have this record if you wish to have additional information.

I have a copy of Roberts Deed/Will. He signed it Robert Killcreas, however the Scotish spelling would be Gilchrist and Spanish the same or Gilcrease. I understand there is no K in Spanish?

Additional information can be found in a book "Abstracts Orphans Court Minutes Mobile County, Alabama 1813-1837" written by Clinton P. King and Meriem Allison Barlow. (Meriem's husband Arnold A Barlow is a descendant of Sarah Killcreas and Aron Barlow). I will make a copy of pertinate abstracts if you should need.

I'll close for now. If I can help you in any way please let me know. I hope this is not an imposition. Thanks.

Sincerely, Bob K.
Bobby Killcreas

P.S.
I also think there maybe a connection with Peter Gilcrease, card index Goo 279, only time and research will tell--Maybe others.

KILLCREAS

It is believed that the first European country to employ "fixed" surnames was Ireland with a record of the death of Tighearnach Ua Cleirigh, lord of Aidhne, in the year 916. Surnames have originated in various ways. In the case of the surname Killcreas this name is an anglicised form of the Gaelic surname Mac Giolla Chriost which is found in both Ireland and Scotland. The surname Mac Giolla Chriost is derived from the Gaelic meaning "son of the devotee of Christ". "Giolla Christ" was originally a proper name in its own right which followed the Gaelic custom of inserting "giolla" or "devotee" before the name of a saint or before the name of Christ. The Mac Giolla Christ sept of Ireland was found chiefly in Longford and in North Connacht.

The Scottish Mac Giolla Christ's were septs of the MacLachlan and Ogilvie clans. One of the earliest records of the name is that of an inscription found on the beautiful St. Martin's Cross in Iona which reads: A prayer for Gilchrist who made this cross. Other records include a dispute involving Gilchrist, the earl Mar, who built a priory in Monymusk circa 1200. Patrick Gilchrist, son of the count of Strivelyn and Kilschyn Gilcrist of the county of Perth rendered homage in 1296. Adam fiz (son of) Gilcrist was juror on an inquisition in Strayavane in 1302. Other anglicised forms of the name include Kilchrist, Gilchrist, Kilcrist, Christopher and Christie.

BLAZON OF ARMS : Argent; a lion passant sable; a chief azure; charged on the dexter with a cross pattee and on the sinister with a covered cup both or.

Doug McArthur

Doug McArthur loves spending his days with his K-9 partner Gamon, a 5-year-old Belgian Malinoi. McArthur said he always knew he wanted to be a law enforcement officer, but he didn't think he would be a K-9 officer. McArthur was in the Air Force where he was a member of the security police. After he left the service he began working as a deputy with the Jackson County Sheriff's Department. After 10 years on the force, an opportunity to work with the K-9 unit arose and McArthur took the job. He fell in love with the job after completing training school. McArthur and Gamon keep up an intense training regimen several times a week to keep their skills honed. The K-9's are proficient in narcotics detection, apprehension, tracking and evidence searching. McArthur and Gamon patrol Interstate 10 for drug interdiction. McArthur also trains dogs for other police agencies and keeps them certified. McArthur has turned down promotions and advancement in rank to remain a K-9 officer with the sheriff's department. In his spare time the lifelong Jackson County resident runs his own training and rescue school for dogs. He also enjoys hunting and fishing.

SERVING MOSS POINT AND ESCATAWPA

Bagpiper not just tooting own horn

By NATALIE CHAMBERS
Mississippi Press Staff

MOSS POINT — Former Moss Point High School band director Jack Lander is one of a handful of accomplished bagpipers in Jackson County and he uses his talents to play at many events.

Lander, 70, who retired from the school district in 1992, says music is the second love of his life — the first being his wife, Day.

Not only has he mastered the musical scale and breath and arm control, Lander teaches bagpipe as well.

"When the bagpipe is well tuned and well played, it's a beautiful sound. A good player, playing a good set of bagpipes, there's nothing that compares to it," he said.

"We only have nine notes. If the melody does not originally fit into those nine notes, I don't really consider it a bagpipe tune," Lander said.

"Down in this part of the country we rarely have an opportunity to hear the really outstanding player. There are a lot of good players but I am talking about world class players. The instrument doesn't sound like the same instrument when they are playing. So many of those guys started piping at an early age in life, like 8 years old. Quite often their first teacher was their father or their grandfather," he said.

"Haunting," is how Day Lander describes the sound.

Bagpipes generally cost $1,000 and up depending on quality.

Lander plays for funerals, memorials, weddings, parades and other events.

"One of my favorite things to do is military banquets. I play for quite a few of them, the Navy especially. A lot of the navy history goes back to British history. The idea of piping in the beef is a tradition," he said.

It's not uncommon to see the Moss Pointer performing in full dress which means wearing a kilt.

But after the event is over, Lander said he prefers to take it off because of the stares and comments that come his way.

"I've always had a fear of breaking down and I would hate to walk along the interstate wearing a kilt. You can imagine what kind of comments I've heard," he said.

The Landers have had some of their most enjoyable laughs about the kilt.

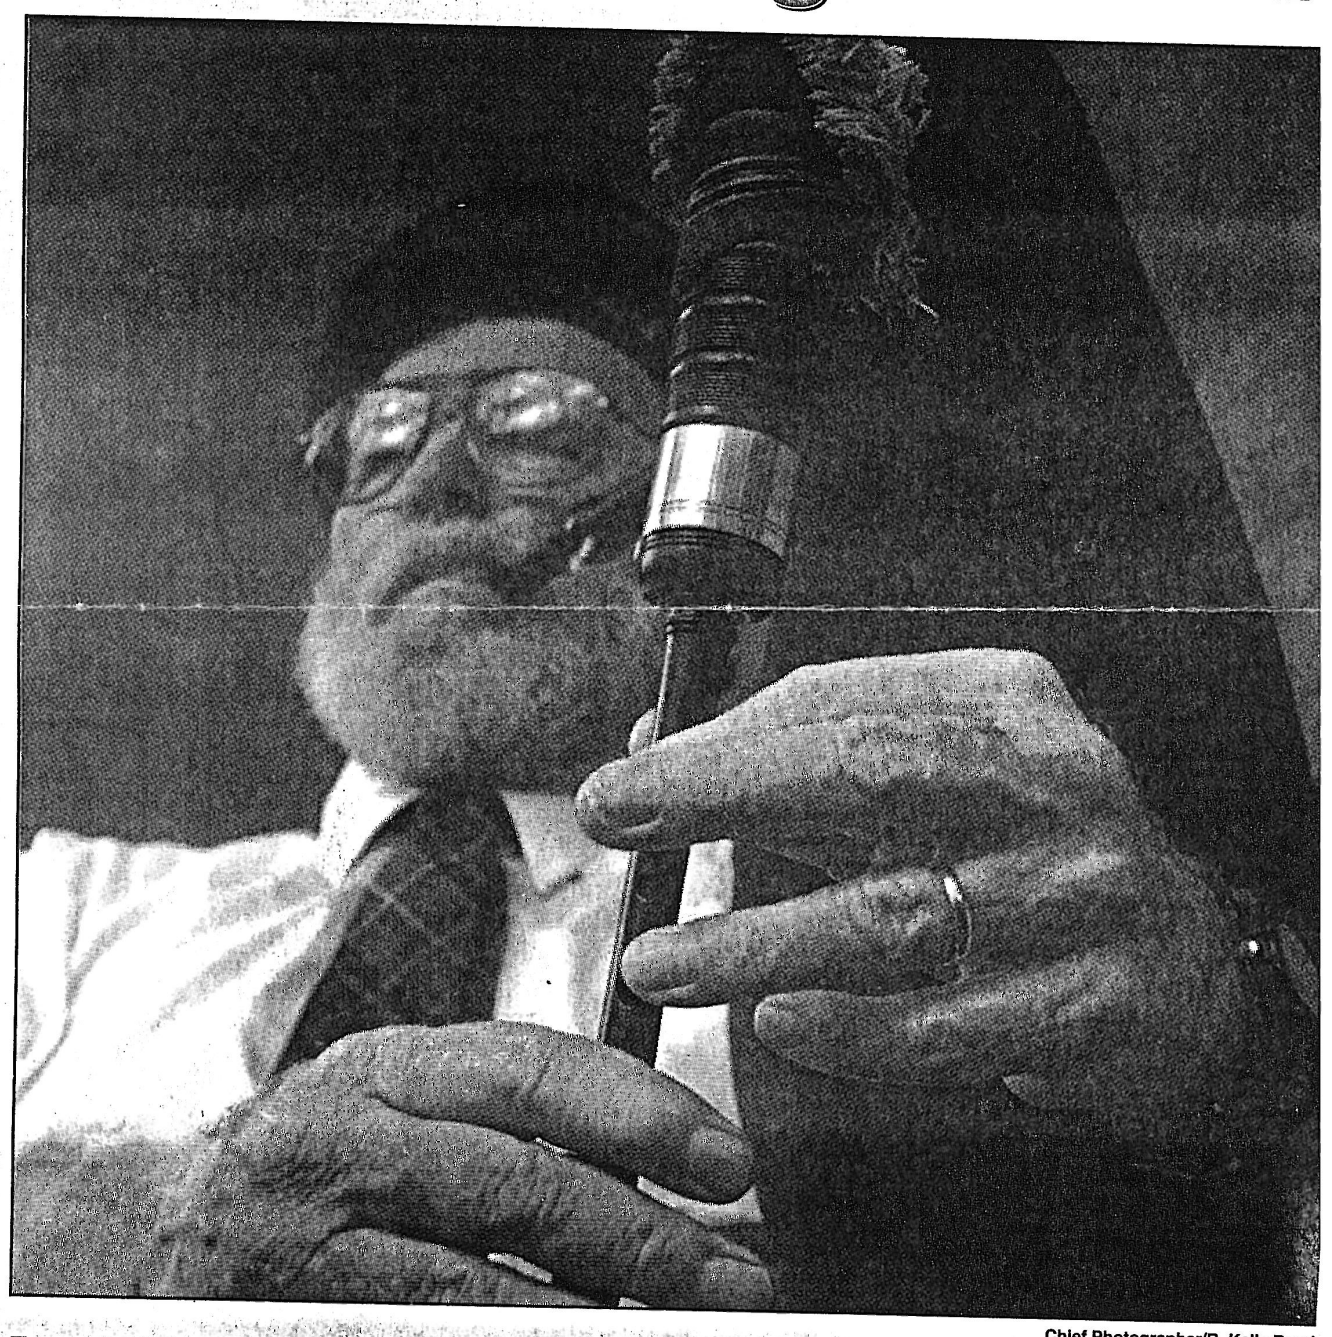
"You can't get dressed hurriedly with this thing," he said.

One of the most frequent questions the Landers field is 'what's under the kilt?'

"You have to keep reminding them how they sit," she said.

In regiment, it's without additional garments underneath.

"The original kilt wasn't anything at all like what we wear today. They had big pieces of tartan material. The kilt was all they wore. During the old days, they were quite primitive, no such thing as underwear," he said.



Chief Photographer/R. Kelly Boyd

Lander said when one is dressed in regiment, he is are following tradition.

Another dress article that piques one's interest is the sporran, which is attached to the waist. It resembles a purse. "It's not a good substitute for pockets by any means," he said.

Lander said he first heard the haunting sound of the bagpipe when he was in Laurel, Miss., teaching school during 1952-53.

"I was kind of intrigued by it. It was a very old man playing it," he said. "Just watching him tune it up, was interesting."

Lander also remembered the bagpipe's smell.

"His smelled like a barn yard," he said of the tanned leather.

A sealant is now used to alleviate the smell.

"The outside of the skin is on the inside of the bag," he said of the outdoor instrument.

Lander was reintroduced to bagpipes when he moved to the Coast in the 1960. A teacher at St. Martin was a player.

Lander was 50 when he started playing and he has basically taught himself to play.

"I thought if I had a master's degree that I could teach myself to play. I was mistaken. I struggled along," he said.

Mrs. Lander does not play, but she wholeheartedly supports her husband.

She said watching him struggle during practice sessions, she knew she made a wise decision.

"Life has not been dull," she said. "I don't touch his bagpipe and he doesn't touch my computer."

Both were born and reared in Moss Point. Both graduated from Moss Point High School. They have four children and they are Moss Point High School graduates.

Lander received his undergraduate degree in music from the University of Southern Mississippi.

"We knew each other seven years before we had a date. If he had said 'let's elope' after that date, I would have gone,' she said.

The Landers are frequent quests at the Highland Games in Georgia where bagpipers converge from all across the country.

"Bagpipes are one of the hardest instruments to sing along with. Either you have to sing real high or real low," he said.

The Landers have traveled to Scotland twice. He does not have a drop of Scots blood, he said. His father's people were Prussian.

Mrs. Lander is of Scottish, Irish and English descent.

"He's an adopted Scot," she explains.

But he is a co-founder of the Scottish Society of the Gulf Coast. He's an official piper for Clan McArthur. The Landers also are scholarship chairmen for Clan McArthur Society.
